

15th International Conference on Management of Digital EcoSystems (MEDES-2023)

May 5-7, 2023, Heraklion, Crete, Greece

Call For Papers in PhD Student Track

<https://conferences.sigappfr.org/medes2023/>

PhD students seeking feedback from the scientific community on their research ideas are invited to submit their original un-published and in-progress research work. Position studies are also accepted. The track provides a forum that facilitates interactions between PhD Students and an opportunity to meet and exchange ideas with experienced researchers and practitioners in their areas of interest.

We welcome submissions from PhD students at any stage of their PhD work that are related to the conference topics. All submissions will be reviewed at least by two researchers and practitioners with expertise in the topic addressed.

SUBMISSION

PhD students are invited to submit their research work following the instructions published on MEDES 2023 website. The submissions should not exceed 4 pages in length using the same conference template.

Accepted papers will be published at the MEDES 2023 Conference, and their authors will also have the opportunity to give poster presentations of their work.

All papers should be submitted electronically via Easychair.
